Trenton School Ranks First in One-Act Plays

Maryville Takes Second Place—Eleven Schools Compete—Savannah and Jamesport Enter Finals.

A large number of contestants entered the annual spring contest in dramatics this year. The increase in numbers from three last year to eleven this year shows an increased interest in high school dramatics.

Throughout the day Thursday, the following plays were presented before the judge:

"Maid of France," "Romance," "The Birthday of the Infants," "Where but in America?" "Finders, Keepers," "Maker of Dreams," "Op o' My Thumb," "Sauce for the Gossamer," "The Twelve Pound Note," "The Locked Chest," and O Joy Sam."

Of the eleven plays, "Finders Keepers," presented by Maryville; "O Joy Sam," presented by Savannah; "The Birthday of the Infants," presented by Trenton; and "Op o' My Thumb," presented by Jamesport, were chosen for the final contest Thursday evening. "The Birthday of the Infants," received first place. The setting of the play was in Spain. It was the birthday of the Infants, and a hunchback called "The Fantastie" was chosen to dance for her amusement. The Fantastie's first performance so pleased the Infants that she threw him a rose. The Fantastie had never seen himself in a mirror and in an interval when the Infants was gone, he saw himself in a mirror. The ugliness of the reflection so affected his beauty-loving soul that his heart was broken and he died, holding the Infants' rose in his hand.
The cast was as follows:
Infants—Margaret Moore
Duchess—Martha Duffy
Chamberlain—Jack Shipman
Count—Ray Lawson
Servant—Cris Berniking

Nineteen Years Pass with Meet Held Each Year

Number of Participating Schools Has Increased from Fourteen in 1910 to Seventy-four in 1929.

The first track and field meet held, under the auspices of the Maryville Normal School, was April 30, 1910. At that time the Northwest Missouri High School Athletic Association, composed of fourteen high schools, had been newly organized.

This year the annual track meet was held with seventy-four high schools participating in various contests in the three day affair. From that modest beginning in 1910, these contests have developed into the largest competitive gathering of high school students anywhere in Missouri.

Central High School of St. Joseph won the meet, nineteen years ago, by having a total of 58½ points. Chillicothe was second with 50 points. Savannah was third, with 11 points. Other schools which entered athletes were: Rockport, Albany, Platte City, St. Joseph, Benton, Maryville, Hopkins, Grant City, Weston, Kearney, Princeton, and Maitland.

Prizes for the first meet were offered by the business men of Maryville, but now the College gives all of the awards.

There was no division among the schools, according to size, the first few years of the district track meet. All competed in the same events. Schools are now divided into two classes, A and B. High schools with an attendance of more than 150 are in class A, and schools with an attendance under 150 are in class B. The meet is run off in two divisions, and the athletes of each division do not compete against each other except for records.

Every mark made in the 1910 meet has been replaced by a higher one, in the years that have followed. The most records to be broken in any one year were broken in 1913. Eleven records fell that year.

Following is a list of the track meet winners:

Many Students Enter Musical Contests Here

Friday Night's Program Consists of Music Alone—Glee Clubs, Orchestras, and Bands Appear.

Music proved the most popular contest this year judging by the number of entries. The selections varied from light to very heavy compositions, and there was an excellent display of talent.

The piano contest was held in the Auditorium, Friday morning. There were eighteen entries, seventeen girls and one boy. Charles Wilson, of Tarkio, won first in piano solo.

The winner is seventeen years old and a senior in the Tarkio High School. He has received his musical training from his mother, who is a talented musician. He was coached for a few weeks by Mrs. Zinzinger of Tarkio. His selection was "Rondin Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn.

Three persons tied for second place: Jean Campbell, of Albany; Florence Abersold, of Savannah, and Laura Jean Murdock of Maryville.

The contests in violin and cornet solos were held in Social Hall, Friday morning. There were eight entries in violin. Helen Lukers, of Rockport, won first in this event. ## College High Will Present Three-Act Play

Students Will Use Philip Barry's Play, "The Youngest," in College Auditorium, May 7.

"The Youngest," a three-act comedy, will be presented by the senior class of the College High School, at the College Auditorium, on Tuesday night, May 7. This is one of Philip Barry's best plays for young people.

The cast is made up of the following: Charlotte Winslow.....Helen Elliott
Augusta Winslow.....Augusta Vert
Alan Martin.....Bert Blanton
Martha Winslow (Muff).....Helen Holt
Richard Winslow.....Edgar Russell
Oliver Winslow.....Lester Hall
The following is a brief sketch of the plot: Richard, the youngest son of the Winslow family, wishes to write. The entire family is determined to shape his life. Richard resents their maneuvering but is rather helpless. Nancy, a friend of "Muff's" comes for a visit with the purpose of making Richard assert himself. She has a motto "Treat a mouse like a lion, and he'll grow a mane over night." Through the discovery of a technicality in Mr. Winslow's will, Richard gains control over the entire estate. Richard exceeds Nancy's expectations so much that she is not able to control the whole matter. Then it is Richard who does the maneuvering.

Helen Tobow of the Play Directing class under Miss Crisswell, is directing the play. Ollie Horn is assisting. Admission will be twenty-five cents, or a minor coupon from College students.

Father of Student Dies
William Alsap, a student in this college, received word, last Tuesday, that his father, who had gone to Bristow, Oklahoma, to visit friends had died suddenly. After a funeral at Bristow, Wednesday, the body was brought to New Hampton for burial. The funeral was held on Friday.

Reverend Alsap's children namely: Janet, Winifred, Vivian, James, and William, have attended S. T. O. Vivian received her B. S. degree last summer.

Halley Ford, a former student, will teach at Burlington Junction next year. He plans to complete this summer the work for the B. S. and the A. B. degrees. He is teaching this year at Gaynor.

Music Instructors Play in Assembly

Miss Helen Dvorak, violinist and teacher of violin at the College, and Mr. William E. Holdridge, pianist and teacher of piano, furnished the program at assembly, Wednesday morning.

The number used by the two musicians was a sonata for violin and piano by Lekeu. A sonata is a form that gives equal place to the two instruments and should not be confused with solo with piano accompaniment.

Leken, the composer, belongs to the modern French school. His sonata is dedicated to the famous Belgian violinist, Ysaye, who was the first violinist to play the composition.

The audience who heard Miss Dvorak and Mr. Holdridge was a large one. Besides the regular assembly of students and faculty, there were more than two hundred short course students and a number of townspeople. The program was received with enthusiasm as indicated by prolonged applause.

College Makes Effort to Give Excellent Fete

More than Four Hundred Will Take Part in May Fete to be Given on Campus, Friday and Saturday, May 17-18.

This year the College is making an effort to give the May Fete the place in the College program which it deserves. Miss Nell Martindale, of the physical education department of the College, is directing the Fete. More than 400 students will take part in the program, and 500 costumes will be seen. Most of the costumes are being made by the students, under the direction of Miss Martindale, but some of them will come from Northwestern University. The Faculty Dances' Club has given Miss Martindale assistance with the costuming. For the first time in the history of the May Fetes at S. T. O. boys will take part in the special dances. The May Fete is being put on at great expense to the College, which explains the small charge of 25 cents admission for adults and 15 cents for children.

The annual training department for the College, under the direction of Mr. Whiffen, is making the fence which is to be a part of the setting for the Fete. This fence alone is costing more than $125.00.

The band and orchestra under the direction of Mr. Hickernell of the College, will furnish the music. The special arrangement of parts for the band is costing $27.00.

Miss Martindale became nationally known as a director of wonderful May Fetes when she was in charge of the physical education for women at the University of North Dakota, at Grand Forks, where she has been for the past few years.

The famous Barksdale natural outdoor theater is located at Grand Forks, and it is there that Miss Martindale directed several May Fetes. To produce some of them, cost the University more than $3000 and drew crowds of more than 5000 people.

In order that more people may be able to see the May Fete two performances will be given. The first performance will be given at 6:30 p. m., Friday, May 17, and the second one at 3:30 p. m. the next day, Saturday, May 18.

College Maintains Employment Service

For the convenience of students at the College and people of Maryville the College is attempting to maintain a student help employment service. This service under the direction of Mr. C. E. Wells, Head of the library at the College. Students of the College desiring work should see Mr. Wells in the library. People in town who would like to get student help should call the College, preferably the day before they desire the student help and state sort of help work which they want done will require. They should also indicate for what period of time the help will be needed. Students desiring just the soft collar jobs should not bother to inquire concerning work.
When a student takes a job it is well for him to contract for future work with the same employer providing this is satisfactory to both parties.

Red Cross Will Conduct Course in Life-Saving

Missouri Section Will Meet at Lake Taneycomo from June 13 to 22 with Faculty of Experts.

St. Louis, Missouri, April 18—College students in large numbers are expected to attend Red Cross First Aid and Life Saving Institutes during this June. These training schools will be conducted by more than 3,000 Red Cross chapters through their National Organization, as a vigorous measure against the expectancy of 7,000 deaths from drowning, in addition to 23,000 from machinery accidents, and 23,000 from auto mishaps. Camp Oak Point, Square Lake, Minnesota; Rockaway Beach, Lake Taneycomo, Missouri; Camp Wabun Annung, Kerryville, Texas; and Laks Lawn, Delavan, Wisconsin, are sites for institutes in the Midwest, June 13th to 22nd.

At these places, all well equipped for water recreation, a faculty of experts will offer intensive water safety and First Aid instruction as perfected by the Red Cross. Students will learn the Red Cross Standard First Aid Course, which if passed successfully carries a certificate. They will also learn the fundamental swimming strokes necessary for life saving, and will be given the Red Cross Life Saving Test. Successful students will be capable of imparting their knowledge to hundreds of others. In disasters, particularly, persons with First Aid training are greatly needed. In 10,000 communities throughout the United States the Red Cross is pushing disaster preparedness as developed by the organization in handling 938 disasters since 1881, and First Aid training is a feature. No community is secure from some sort of calamity, and First Aiders can be immediately on the scene rendering valuable assistance to physicians.

The institute students will be a co-polititan group and all will come to learn. It is anticipated that summer camp directors and counselors, men and women interested in physical education, members of boys' and girls' organizations, life guards, and playground and swimming pool directors will take advantage of what the Red Cross terms an exceptional opportunity to receive expert instruction along interesting lines in a vacation atmosphere, at a very slight cost in addition to transportation.

Besides water safety and First Aid methods, students will be taught distance swimming and the correct handling of canoes and boats. As a former student, who is a college man, writes, "The faculty numbered among its instructors, coaches of the larger universities, as well as two members of the Red Cross National First Aid and Life Saving service staff. The recreation side of Red Cross Institutes is far from neglected. Places of scenic beauty which have outstanding water fronts and equipment are always chosen. There are dances, stunt nights and impromptu meriment that cannot be checked when a group of young people are together doing work that is so interesting it is like play. Anyone who has a singing voice and who plays a ukulele is not barred, provided he performs not too often and at a suitable distance.

"Trained leadership in swimming and in water work is just as essential as trained leadership in any other endeavor. As an answer to the great need for First Aid and Life Saving knowledge in a country of over 118,000,000 people with a tremendous accident rate, the American Red Cross offers its attractive First Aid and Life Saving Institutes."

College students wishing to help solve the problem of coaching the public how to save lives before the physician reaches the scene of disaster and accident, are urged promptly to write the Midwestern Branch Office of the Red Cross at St. Louis.

Ten Athletes Are Awarded Sweaters

The 1928-1929 basketball athletes were awarded sweaters, by President Lamkin, at last Wednesday's assembly. Four of the ten men are seniors, and have played their last games for the College. Three of these received sweaters with four service stripes and a star. They are: Paul Burks, Leon Ungles, and Orville Hodges. Frank Crane, also a senior, received a sweater with four stripes signifying his four years of service on the basketball court.

W. A. A. Girls Will Put on Track Meet

The W. A. A. girls have signed up for events which they expect to enter in the track meet to be held sometime in May. The practice of this group is under the direction of Miss Barton and also the sport manager, Opal Hall. The practice periods are held at 4:20 on the track field every week day except Friday.

The practice in this group is mostly individual specialized because one person can enter only four events, two of which may be for speed. There are nine different events: 60-yard dash, 75-yard low hurdles, shot put, baseball throw distance, basket ball throw distance, javelin throw, running broad jump, high jump, and the hop, step and jump.

The class captains and managers are working earnestly with the sport manager to arrange the best track ever undertaken by the girls in the College. It is not too late yet for girls who are interested in any of the track events to start coming to practices.

Those signed up for senior track team are: Kathleen Jones, captain; Opal Hantze, Manager; Willetta Todd, Ruth England, Sarrah Davis and Nellie Harrold.

Those signed up for sophomore team are: Permenio Davis, captain; Juanita Marsh, Opal Hall, Emma Bledsoe, Eleanor Montgomery, and Gertrude Sawyers.

Only three freshmen have signed up. They are: Doris Clark, Mary Lou Appleman, and Marian Chaywood.

Mr. H. L. Crookshank, superintendent of the Albany High School, accompanied the contestants from that school to Maryville.

The Stroller

By I I I

The Stroller has never taken Sociology 90—The Family—but his best girl told him that the instructor as well as the students is learning some new things. One of the students the other day told the instructor on a test that "pastoral life refers to the religious life of the early Christian pastors."

It is never safe, the Stroller thinks, to cut class; but it is disastrous when there are only two in the class, for the other member of the class may take a notion to cut the same day. Ask Ray Wiley and Ed Tindall what they think about it.

April's Fool's day seems to be lasting longer than usual. At any rate, Dorothy McCord, Floyd Houghton, and others have been trying for some time to pick up a purse that is to be found (at times!) on Lawn Avenue.

Maryville Wins in Language Contest

In the two foreign language contests, Latin and French, there were twenty-nine entries. There were fifteen entries in elementary Latin and nine in advanced Latin; and two entries in elementary French, and two in advanced French.

In the Latin Contest a Latin note book was required of each contestant. The contest in advanced Latin consisted of writing Latin. Miss Dorothy Shultz, of the College faculty, conducted the contests. Ruth De Witt, of Hopkins, won the gold medal and Bouhal Bracalleo, of Rock Port, placed second in the elementary Latin contest.

In the advanced Latin contest, Rose Graves, of Maryville, was first and Jessie Griffey, of Maryville, was second.

All of the entries in French were from Maryville. Miss Blanche Dow, of the College faculty, was in charge of these contests. Elementary French was won by Ruth King, and advanced French was won by Nina Kiale.

Alpha Sigma Alpha Gives Formal Party

The S. S. King A. S. A. set sail with the Alpha signs and guests, at 8:30 o'clock, Saturday night from Country Club Dock. There was a grand scramble up the gang plank and a rush among those who wished to be on deck to watch the raging storm. Over the water the lighthouse sent out red, green, and blue signal lights and when the sea had subsided somewhat the dance began, but throughout the evening waves lashed foam, white above the railing of the good ship carrying on its bow the emblazoned name, King A. S. A.

About three miles out, Captain McDaniels conducted the life boat drill an appropriate form of the usual grand march, at the finish of which each guest received his or her Life Saver mints.

Other favor dances were the sparkler dance, established traditional to Alpha Sigma Alpha, and a confetti dance. The feature of entertainment was a solo dance, the "Sailor's Hornpipe," executed by Sarrahad Davis.

Keys to the state rooms in the form of engraved key cases were given as favors to all invited guests.

The special pride of the captain, the ship's wheel, was copied from and made by the owner of a trim sport yacht, the Bearcat, winner (they were over champions) of three regattas at Put-In-Bay, on Lake Erie, near Sandusky, Ohio.

Groups of guests were allowed the privilege of eating a course at the officer's table with its unique model of "Old Ironsides."

Music was furnished by Ted Breedlove's orchestra.

The passenger list included: Miss Edith A. Barnard, Leola Miller, Armina Wilson, Mr. Davis, Mr. Whiffer, Mr. Clun Price, Mr. C. A. Summer Catalogs Are Ready.
Summer school at the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College, starts June 4, and ends August 7. This week the Summer term catalogs are being sent out to superintendents of schools, to the high school libraries, and to the county superintendents of schools in the Northwest Missouri District. Others desiring a catalog may have one written to Stephen G. LaMar, at the College.

The Sigma Sigma Sigma spring formal will be given Friday night at the Elks Club. The guests will include President and Mr. Lamkin, Miss Edith Barnard, representatives from the Greek letter organizations on the Campus, and the alumni and active members of the sorority and their guests.

Mr. Mounce Joins Bar Association.
Mr. E. W. Mounce, of the Department of Social Science, recently became a member of the Nodaway County Bar Association. The motion for his admittance was made by Attorney Paul R. Jones, Jr. Early this spring Mr. Mounce was announced as one of the successful applicants who passed the Missouri bar examinations.

Margaret Sells, of Savannah, visited Pauline Walker at Residence Hall over the week-end. Miss Sells is a former student of the college.

WHAT ABOUT THE GIRLS?
For sometime it has been said that young people are "going to the dogs," that more disciplinary problems are coming up every day—that they cannot be controlled. Especially has this been said of the college student. Some people have been very hard on the average college girl—they "pity" the Dean of the college.

Now that exact information upon the subject has been found, shall the girls be kept in the dark concerning the matter?

General statistics in a survey recently made, show that being called before a disciplinary board was an exception rather than a rule. The problems were minor, concerning returning without permission, failing to return to dormitories on time, and the traditional "indoor sport" of cutting classes. This is general—shall we bring the light closer home?

In a questionnaire sent sometime ago to Dean Barnard, she was asked to state disciplinary problems between the dates October 15 and November 15. When Dean Barnard looked over her records she found not a single offense during that period. Furthermore this month was not an unusual month according to Dean Barnard.

Miss Barnard also says that the misdemeanors were slight, and more often the persons came to her and told her of the offense and fixed their own penalties.

So it is seen that the girls of the campus do not merit the name of "hard-boiled," gin-drinking, line slinging girls," but rather that of serious minded, young women who are here for a higher purpose.

One of the main features of the Hawaii Educational Association Convention which was held on Thursday evening, January 3, 1929 at the Central Junior High Auditorium was the singing program contributed by the members of the KalaKaua Junior High Club under Miss Awai's instruction.

The famous Kamehameha victory song "Imu Kamehameha," and "Kahikili," "Imi Au Ia Oe" were sung and broadcasted by radio through the KOU station. The large audience that filled the auditorium was highly pleased by the rendering of Hawaiian songs.

The Glee Club is one of the most active organizations of KalaKaua Junior High. Members consist largely of Hawaiian boys and girls. The present leader and instructor is Miss Awai.

The members of the club are learning a new song at the present which is entitled "Leilehua."

Cleveland, Ohio—(IP)—Graduates of engineering colleges generally receive a higher salary than the professors who taught them, President Charles S. Howe, of Case School of Applied Science says in an article "College Teaching as a Profession," which appears in the December issue of the Case Alumni.

The median salary of teachers in engineering colleges is $4,200, while the median salary of engineering graduates is $7,500, the article states. Some teachers have an income from extra professional work bringing the median income of the professors up to $5,700.

"The professor can never expect to be wealthy, he barely makes enough to live decently and to educate his children. He rarely has enough left for his old age unless he has been so fortunate as to inherit some property," Dr. Howe writes.

Robinson Crusoe in Rare Edition Brings $10,000

First American Edition of "Robinson Crusoe," Printed by Revolutionary War Editor Is Found.

NEW YORK.—A shabby book with wall-paper wrappers, yellowed by the dust of more than a century and a half and looking, least of anything in the world, like a "very great find," has just come out of the dim corner of a New York attic and taken its place on the $10,000 shelf of first editions.

It is a copy of Robinson Crusoe and, according to R. W. G. Vail, of the New York public library, "a hitherto lost book for which collectors and bibliographers have eagerly searched for many years."

In 1774, Hugh Gaine, printer and book seller, had a thriving business in the American colonies. In addition to his job printing and bookselling business, he was also the publisher of the New York Mercury which he established in 1752. From the beginning of the dispute between the colonies and the mother country, he had been an ardent supporter of the colonists' cause and during the Stamp Act excitement in 1765, he announced that he would rather discontinue his newspaper than to print it on stamped paper.

In 1768 he was made official printer for the colony and the city of New York and changed the name of his paper to the New York Gazette and Weekly Mercury, the insertion of the Gazette in the title to show the official status of his paper. When the Revolution opened, he was still sympathetic to the colonists but tried to keep the columns of the Gazette open to both Patriot and Tory.

When the British occupied New York Gaine took a part of his printing equipment to Newark and, beginning September 21, 1776, he published seven issues of the Gazette there. During this time, however, his loyalty to the American cause seems to have begun to waver and he was compelled by the New Jersey patriots to return to New York. From that time on he became a supporter of the British and deliberately printed false news designed to magnify British successes in battle and similarly to belittle American victories. Naturally he incurred the bitter enmity of the Americans and one patriotic journal, the Pennsylvania Journal, characterized him as "the greatest liar upon earth."

With the publication of Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe" in England and its immediate success, he issued an American edition of the book. Up to now, however, the only trace to this issue was an advertisement which Gaine published in another book in 1776. When the Continental troops captured New York, the shop of the Troy book dealer was destroyed, and the same thing, it is assumed out of the high feeling of the times, happened to issues of his books in the hands of colonists.

At least this is the explanation of the book's rarity by the New York book dealer into whose hands the volume has come. However this may be, the book is the only known copy of the first American edition of "Robinson Crusoe."

"It is the most important early child's book ever published in America, except, of course, the New England primer," Mr. Vail says.

In view of the fact that a first edition of "Robinson Crusoe" is a rare book, it is not surprising that it should bring $10,000.
